CRUCIAL GAME FOR TOMORROW

Pirates' Defeat at Detroit Makes Seventh Contest Necessary.

THREE PLAYERS WERE HURT

Tigers Played Fast and Snappy, With Mullin Starring in the Box—A Sensational Rally in the Ninth Inning.

Detroit, Oct. 14.—Detroit kept in the great fight for the world's baseball championship by defeating Pittsburg 5 to 4 today in a battle full of sensational and thrilling situations and tonight the two teams are tied with three victories each. The seventh and deciding game will be played here Saturday. A fear inspiring rally in the ninth inning by Pittsburg was stopped after one run was scored, but three Detroit players were injured in stemming the rush of Pittsburg runs to the plate.

Tom Jones, the Detroit first baseman, was the most seriously hurt. His neck and spine were injured in a collision with Wilson at first base and this resulted in Pittsburg scoring its run of that session. Charles Schmidt, the catcher, had his right leg badly gashed in blocking Abstein off the plate in the final inning. The play that finished the threatening rally of the National League champions resulted in the injury of George Moriarty, when he caught Wilson trying to steal third on Abatchio's strike out in the same inning. Moriarity's left knee was badly hurt when Wilson slid into the base.

It is practically certain Jones will not be able to play in Saturday's decisive game. Schmidt, it is thought, will be able to play and there is no doubt that Moriarity will be in the decisive battle.

The Pittsburg team got away in the lead by smashing out three runs on four successive hits off Mullin in the first inning. After that the great Mullin was invincible until the ninth, when he weakened enough to get into a dangerous situation only to extricate himself by another marvelous exhibition of pitching.

Detroit put up another of its wonderful uphill games. The American League champions scored one run in the first inning and batted Willis off the slab, scoring two runs in the fourth, and one more in the fifth by terrific batting. Camnitz succeeded Willis and Detroit batted him hard enough to get another run in the sixth inning. Camnitz was withdrawn when Hyatt batted for him in the seventh and the veteran Philippe stopped the Detroit scoring.

The ninth inning rally of Pittsburg teemed with tense moments and dramatic incidents. At one time a hit meant the probable winning of the world's championship by Pittsburg as a single would have tied the score and a two-bagger have put them high in the lead.

Pittsburg went to bat with the score 5 to 3 against it in the last inning. Miller started with a single to right and Abstein put another in the same place, sending Miller to second. Wilson placed a bunt in front of the plate and Schmidt fielded it to first, but the collision with Wilson caused Jones to lose the ball, Miller scoring and Abstein moving to third. The delay occasioned by Tom Jones' injury gave Mullin a hard-earned opportunity to recover his balance. Gibson grounded to Crawford, who had succeeded T. Jones at first base, and the star outfielder made a great stop, and threw to the plate. Abstein was out when Schmidt blocked him off the plate and tagged him out but the Detroit catcher was badly spiked, he continued gamely, however, and few in the crowd knew that he had been injured.

Manager Clarke sent Abbatchio in to bat for Philippe. With Wolsan on second and Gibson on first a hit by Abbatchio meant a tie score at least. There is where Mullin arose to the occasion and made himself another niche in the Detroit baseball hall of fame. Abbatchio was a stubborn batter and it required nearly everything Mullin had to strike him out. On the third strike Wilson tried to steal third but was caught, Schmidt to Moriarity, ending the game with a victory for Detroit.

The waning interest in the series was clearly shown by the fact that only 10,535 persons saw the game. Hans Wagner played a marvelous game in the field, but made only one hit in four times at bat. Mullin, Schmidt, Crawford and Bush were the bright shining stars for Detroit. One of the most sensational plays of the game was a double made by Schmidt and Bush in the sixth inning. With Miller on first Abstein lifted a high foul which Schmidt caught with his back to the field. Miller started for second after the catch, but a wonderfully fast whip by Schmidt and a great one-handed catch and sweep downward by Bush caught Miller off

The speech of the evening was made by Dr. O. L. Stringfield, one of Pender's noblest sons, who is now engaged in the work of Christian Education in South Carolina. It was a masterful address delivered in a way that none but Stringfield could have done it and with a power and sweep of oratory that cannot be properly reported. The closing day was a very busy one. The subject of Christian Education was discussed by Dr. Stringfield, Rev. W. L. Britt, Rev. J. B. Newton and J. T. Bland, Esq.

The next order was Woman's Work upon which a very excellent paper was read by Mrs. G. A. Martin and remarks were made by Rev. W. B. Rivenbark and others. Fennell, which showed a grand total of nearly $16,000. Then followed the closing and the messengers and others attending the Association are returning home.

FATHER KILLED BY HIS SON

Col. Robert Abernethy Shot Dead By Son Who Defended His Mother, Attempted to Kill Him—Had Struggle.

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 14.—Colonel Robert L. Abernethy, one of the best known farmers and stock raisers in North Carolina, was shot and instantly killed at an early hour this morning in a desperate encounter with his son Reuben, aged 20, after the father had made an unsuccessful effort to kill the son.

The tragedy occurred at the family home "Open View" farm, in Gaston county, and was witnessed by the wife and mother. Abernethy entered his son's room this morning precipitated a quarrel over a trivial matter, and drawing a pistol fired three shots at the boy neither taking effect.

The son grappled with him and in the fierce hand to hand struggle that ensued the pistol was discharged twice, both shots taking effect in the father's body. The coroner's jury exonerated the son. There has been bad blood between the two because of the father's treatment of his wife which the boy resented.

FOUR GOVERNORS WILL TAKE PART

National Farmers' Congress in Raleigh Early in November.

STATE FAIR RACE ENTRIES

State Board of Charities Begins its Rounds of Institution—Notable Opinions Delivered by the Supreme Court—Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 14.—Four Governors will take part in the National Farmers' Congress to be in session here November 3rd to 9th. They will be Governor Kitchin, of North Carolina; Governor Swanson, of Virginia; Governor Patterson, of Tennessee, and Governor Sanders, of Louisiana.

United States Senator Overman, Dr. E. A. Alderman, of the University of Virginia; President Venable, of the University of North Carolina; and a host of prominent speakers from this and other States, including specialists in various phases of farming will be among the other speakers. The sessions are to be held in Pullen Hall, out at the A. & M. College. Fully 2,000 delegates are expected from 35 or more States.

The official programme for the State Fair races just perfected shows $4,500 aggregate of purses divided in stakes of $500 and $300 with one stake of $200. The entries are far larger than ever before in the history of the State Fair, at least two of the horses entered have broken world records at Roanoke and Lynchburg.

The State Board of Charities inspected the new State epileptic colony building on the State hospital lands here this morning and left for the State farm in Halifax county to have a look at the conditions there in the matter of the care of the convicts worked on the farm. The members of the board expressed themselves as much pleased with the conditions as they found them in the matter of the construction of the epileptic colony buildings which are nearing completion now.

An amendment to the charter of the N. B. Josey Co., Scotland Neck, increases the capital to $50,000 and authorizes the manufacture of fertilizers.

Among the opinion delivered by the Supreme court this week was one, Dunn vs. Knights of Gideon, that is of interest to secret orders in North Carolina in that the court holds that if a fraternal order passes a resolution admitting a person to membership, and later, because of alleged false statements by one of its directors in regard to such person, rescinds its resolution and refuses a certificate of membership, such fraternal organization is not liable in damages. The opinion was written by Chief Justice Walter Clark for the court.

There is another notable opinion, Hobbs vs. Railroad, in which Associate Justice Walker, writing the opinion for the court, holds that in the matter of fees to witnesses being taxed in the bill of costs when objection has been made in apt time, lays down the general rule that when a cause has been tried only those witnesses of the successful party who have been sworn and either examined or tendered to the opposite party can be taxed against the latter for the reason that if the witness is examined the nature of his testimony will appear and the court can then judge of its materiality and the opposing party can judge as to whether he should be made to pay for this attendance.

For the National Congress of Road Builders of Columbus, Ohio, October 26th to 29th, Governor Kitchin appoints the following delegates: Capt. S. B. Alexander, Charlotte; Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, Chapel Hill; P. H. Hanes, Winston-Salem; C. G. Wright, Greensboro, and J. H. Rich, Winston-Salem.

That a destructive storm of wind and hail swept over west and middle Tennessee and north Alabama early tonight is evidenced by the fact that no communication of any character can be had with those sections. Telegraph and telephone wires are down and reports from small towns in the extremewestern counties of Tennessee state that a severe wind storm occurred at 6 o'clock tonight, unroofing houses, leveling telegraph poles and doing other damage. No loss of life is reported from these points.

Incoming trains from the storm swept area are late and their movements are uncertain because of the lack of telegraph facilities in giving orders. There were no evidences of the storm in Memphis other than a sudden drop in the temperature.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Oct. 14.—A severe electrical storm passed over this city shortly after 7 o'clock this evening. Telephone and street car service were badly hamepered for an hour or more.

At Hixson, ten miles from Chattanooga, three inches of hail fell and meagre reports say the damage is extensive.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 14.—A storm amounting almost to a tornado passed over sections of Tennessee about 7 o'clock tonight. Al Barns, a prominent citizen of Denmark, Madison county, was killed, and Mrs. Barns badly hurt. Their home was wrecked. Tom Helm was killed in Lincoln county, near Mulberry, and Homer Ashby and wife severely hurt. Carter Arnold, returning home from school at Wartrace, was caught in the storm and has not been heard from. Many residences were wrecked in Tennessee. The grand stand at the Tennessee Valley Fair grounds, where the fair is in progress, at Huntsville, Ala., was demolished and half the stables on the ground were wrecked. No persons are reported injured.

Wreck and Ruin in Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 14.—A wind and hail storm of cyclonic proportions struck Atlanta at 5:20 o'clock this afternoon and left a trail of wreck and ruin behind it. Hundreds of windows were broken, chimneys were blown down, trees uprooted and houses were unroofed. The property loss is estimated at least $100,000. There were no casualties. The storm lasted only twelve minutes, but the wind attained and held a velocity of 46 miles an hour. Pedestrians were blown against buildings and in some instances through windows. The covers of umbrellas were stripped from them by the hail stones one of which weighed 14 ounces.

TAFT'S ACTION PUTS CRANE OUT

Resignation of Minister to China is Officially Accepted.

HE MAKES A PARTING SHOT

Crane Glad He Had Test of Official Confidence Here Rather Than in China—Responsibility for Article.

Washington, Oct. 14.—All doubt as to what action the President would take with respect to the resignation of Charles R. Crane, minister designated to China, was dispelled by the receipt today of a dispatch from President Taft addressed to his secretary, Mr. Carpenter, directing him to convey to Mr. Crane announcement of the fact that the resignation had been accepted.

The telegram was dated Prescott, Ariz., Oct. 13, and reads as follows: "Convey to Mr. Crane communication: 'I concur in the letter under date of October 12th, which the Secretary of State addressed to you and I greatly regret that the circumstances found to exist by him make it necessary for me to accept your resignation.

(Signed) "TAFT."

Later Mr. Crane issued this statement: "I am greatly relieved by the President's decision. There has been no minute since I learned the attitude of the Department of State when I have not contemplated the possibility of a continuance of my official relations with the deepest repugnance. Nevertheless, I have felt that my obligation to the President was to permit him to decide the issue. I have appreciated fully what would be involved in a decision by him that I should continue. I have realized also the impossibility of his securing complete information at this time. He has chosen to base his opinion upon the 'circumstance found by' the Secretary of State.

"I accepted the Chinese mission at his request and solely because of the assurance that I could be and would be permitted to be of service to the country in constructive work of the greatest importance to it and of the greatest interest to me. It has been made perfectly clear that conditions here were not and are not such as to make this possible To demonstrate this has involved a personal humiliation such as no self-respecting man, who is drafted into the public service should be called on to endure, but I am grateful indeed that I have had the test of official confidence and support here rather than in China and now rather than at some real crisis involving the honor or the interest of the Nation.

"I think I should state at this time that until I arrived here last Sunday I had never seen the newspaper article which is made the excuse for my recall, nor had I heard that such an article had been published and at my interview with the Secretary of State it was not shown to me. I accepted the description of its character and consequence then given to me and assumed full responsibility for my connection with it purely incidental as that connection was."

Mr. Crane left here today at 3 o'clock for New York.

Wise, a wealthy farmer of Lincoln county, cut off the head of his father-in-law with an axe today, then barred the door of his home, set fire to the furniture and was cremated. TRIBUTE IS PAID TO HONORED DEAD

Laying of Corner Stone to Memory of Late Hon. George Davis.

A BEAUTIFUL CEREMONY

Under Auspices of United Daughters of Confederacy in State Convention Assembled—Civic and Military Parade.

Marked by interesting, inspiring and impressive exercises, the corner stone of the George Davis monument to be erected by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, on the plaza near corner of Third and Market streets, in this city, was laid yesterday afternoon by the Grand Lodge of Masons of North Carolina in the presence of an assemblage estimated at from 1,500 to 2,000. The orator was Colonel A. M. Waddell, who was heard with peculiar interest and pleasure upon this occasion.

The military and civic parade preceding the exercises was one of the features. The procession was formed at corner of Fourth and Market streets and the line of march was down Market to the place where the exercises took place, the following being the order: Messrs. L. Leon and George Huggins, aides to Gen. James I. Metts, chief marshal; the Delgado Band, playing a march; the Wilmington Light Infantry, in command of Capt. mand of Capt. W. R. Dosher; detachment of Naval Reserves in command of Lieutenant Murphy; Judge Oliver H. Allen and members of the bar of the county; Confederate Veterans; members of George Davis Camp, Sons of Veterans; members of Chamber of Commerce; Mayor Walter G. The military companies proceeded to the south side of Market street, where they took their positions; the Naval Reserves, halted in the centre of the intersection of Third and Market streets; Confederate Veterans, members of the bar, Chamber of Comerce, Mayor and Aldermen and the Sons of Veterans stopped on the north side, while the Daughters and the Children of the Condeferacy circled about the foundation for the monument. The Masons arrived from their lodge room about the same time and the Grand Lodge officers moved directly to the scene of the corner stone laying.

A grand stand, attractively decorated with bunting of Confederate colors, flags, smilax and pine tree tops, had been erected just east of the point where the monument will be erected. Seated in the grandstand were Colonel A. M. Waddell, Rev. Dr. James Carmichael, General Metts, and State officers of the Daughters of the Confederacy.

After a selection from the band Most Worshipful Master W. D. McMillan, Jr., stated that the Grand Lodge of Masons had convenmed at the request of the Daughters of the Confederacy for the purpose of laying the corner stone to a monument to be erected in memory of one of the State's greatest citizens. He announced that the exercises would be continued by the singing of "America." A special choir of adult voices from the various church choirs of the city and about 100 school children led in the singing of this patriotic song. As the list was read by Mr. A. S. Holden, as Grand Secretary, the following articles were deposited in the copper box, which was afterwards soldered and lowered into an opening in the corner stone: Copy of first number of Carolina Churchman, dated October 1909, containing prayer set forth by Rt. Rev. Thomas Atkinson, in the Spring of 1861 for use in the Diocese of North Carolina. letter of donor, Mr. T. E. Wallace, city postmaster. Copy of the Morning Star of October 14th, 1909. Photograph of Colonel John L. Cantwell, a veteran of the Mexican war and a gallant Confederate soldier; a prisoner of war confined in Fort Delaware and one of the four hundred kept within line of fire, and suffering untold hardships on Morris Island, S. C.; the oldest Confederate veteran in our midst, who is proud to "have his picture placed under the monument of so grand a man as the Honorable George Davis." Programme of the 13th annual convention of the North Carolina Division of the Daughters of the Confederacy, held in the Commandery room of the Masonic Temple, Wilmington, N. C., October 12, 13, 14, 15, 1909.

This was followed by the usual impressive ceremonies of the Masonic order, participated in by the Grand Lodge officers, after which the "Doxology" was sung and Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, and Grand Lodge Chaplain, offered a most earnest prayer. This was followed by the singing of the "Good Old North State."

The Grand Lodge officers for the occasion were: M. W.—W. D. McMillan, Jr., as Worshipful Master; R. W.—J. S. McEachern, as Deputy Grand Master; R. W.—M. S. Willard, as Senior Grand Warden; R. W.—R. Holmes Davis, as Grand Steward; W.—E. P. Bailey, as Grand Steward; W.—R. H. Bradley, Grand Tiler. Mr. E. L. Hart was appointed bearer of the three great lights. The lodges participating in the ceremonies were St. John's, No. 1; Wilmington, No. 319; Orient, No. 395, of Wilmington; Corinthian, No. 230, of Rocky Mount; Boardman, No. 536, of Boardman; Pythagoras No. 244, Southport. Mr. Bradley was the only officer of the Grand Lodge who was able to be present. He has been Grand Tiler for some 25 or 30 years and has attended every meeting of the Grand Lodge since 1864.

After the Masons had concluded their ceremonies, Rev. Dr. James Carmichael offered a fervent player, the assemblage joining in repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Colonel Waddell's Address.

The speaker of the occasion was presented by General James I. Metts in a few remarks. Colonel Waddell's address was delivered in his usual eloquent and able style and he was given close attention. Colonel Waddell spoke as follows:

Madame President and Ladies of the United Daughters of the Confederacy:

Forty-one years ago the then Governor of North Carolina, himself one of the greatest figures in our history, declaring that he but voiced the wish of the people of the whole State, tendered to the most distinguished citizen of Wilmington the great office of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

Since that time both have passed to the undiscovered country, but under the shadow of the capitol, at Raleigh, stands the bronze image of the one, with hand extended and gaze fixed towards the East, and soon will rise on this slope the bronze image of the other, standing with dignified mien and steadfast gaze, looking beyond the historic Cape Fear toward the western hills. Surely the good Angel of North Carolina must have directed those, who, unmindful of its significance, thus placed these two perpetual mementoes of the unity of our people and the glory of our State.

It would be a subject of profound gratification to every patriotic North Carolinian that the era of monument-building in this State has at last arrived, and that the spirit which inaugurated it exists in all parts of her territory. The absence of this spirit in the past, though easily accounted for, has been a cause of just reproach to us for "a land without monuments is a land without memories."

No memorial has yet been erected in North Carolina to commemorate a truer patriot, a more profoundly learned jurist, a more accomplished orator and scholar or a more stainless gentleman than he whose statue will stand above the corner-stone laid here today. Descended from some of the most distinguished of the original settlers of this Cape Fear country, he attained greater distinction than any of them and wore his well-earned laurels with a modesty as rare as it was unaffected.

As he who stands at the base of a noble structure cannot by his physical eyesight take in all the architectural beauty, so we cannot by our mental vision see in their just proportions the qualities of greatness in those with whom we are brought into close and familiar contact. A little distance is necessary in the one case as in the other to get a true view.

The people of Wilmington among whom he passed nearly his whole life were too close to Mr. Davis to realize fully the splendid proportions of his intellectual and moral character. His natural dignity and reserve were so softened by his genial and kindly spirit that the humblest of his acquaintances were among the warmest of his admirers. He was too big a man for affectations of any kind, and he was too sturdily honest to compromise his conviction on any subject; therefore, while always courteous and considerate towards those who differed with him, his judgments which were always well considered were apt to be final.

As a lawyer deeply versed in the principles of the science he had no superior at the North Carolina Bar; as an advocate he had no equal; as a platform orator he was without a peer, and as a manly man of spotless character, and the highest ideals in every sphere of life he was a model gentleman.

His career as an orator began with his valedictory oration at the University, the first honors of which he won at the age of eighteen, and he maintained his primacy in that art, with ever-increasing reputation, until his final retirement from the active duties of life. He loved North Carolina, its history, and traditions with all the ardor of a devoted son, and he gloried in the history of this Cape Fear section which his forefathers helped to make and about which he knew more than any other man of his generation.

It is not expected of me nor is it my intention to give a sketch of his life and services on this occasion; that duty will devolve upon another when this statue shall be unveiled. I propose only to recall a few events illustrative of his gifts and of the high esteem in which he was held by other great men as well as by the people generally. Some of these events are indelibly stamped upon my memory for I witnessed them.

It was not my fortune to hear his eulogy on Henry Clay, delivered in this city in 1852, although I have read it more than once; nor did I hear what I believe he considered his best purely literary effort, his address at the Greensboro Female College in 1856. But I well remember the effect of his oration at the University in 1855 on "The Early Men and Times of the Lower Cape Fear," which was in the nature of a revelation that, as a distinguished scholar has said, "brought the most romantic section of North Carolina permanently into history and, furnished an invaluable example to the historians of the State that was just then beginning to feel the first strong stirrings of the historic consciousness." It was more than that, for it contained passages of thrilling eloquence that were delivered with a fire and force that were long remembered.

The most perfect speech of introduction I ever listened to was the one made by him in presenting Edward Everett, of Massachusetts, at the opera house in this city in 1860, when Mr. Everett, who was recognized as the most accomplished orator in New England, came to deliver his celebrated oration on Washington. There could not have been a better illustration of the characteristic differences in the oratory of the two sections of the country than afforded. As a model emposition, faultlessly declaimed, el composition, faultlessly declaimed, piece of dramatic art, and it met with great applause and admiration wherever it was delivered; but it appealed only to the ear and the aesthetic sense and little, if at all, to the emotions. The speech of Mr. Davis introducing him, was not only equally as scholarly and refined, and as eloquent in delivery, but was vivid with the electricity of true eloquence, and stirred the hearts of his hearers to their depths. His picture of the closing of Boston harbor by the British in 1774 and the sending of a ship load for their relief by the people of the Cape Fear, under the charge of one of the most prominent citizens, fairly raised the audience from their seats. It is said that Mr. Everett recorded in his diary an estimate of Mr. Davis as an orator in which he assigned rank among the very first in America.

Prior to the war Mr. Davis was a strong union man, and opposed to secession. He was trusted and honored, however, by all parties in the State and was appointed one of the Peace Commissioners to Washington in 1861, who, it was hoped, might effect a reconciliation between the two sections. Finding that this could not be done, except upon terms which the commissioners believed to be degrading and dishonorable to the State, he returned and delivered his message to that effect to the people of this city, who assembled in a vast crowd to hear him. No one who attended that meeting can ever forget it, for the speech he made. It was a masterly discussion of the situation and a splendid display of his powers, and when that crowd dispersed there was no longer any division of sentiment as to the necessity of preparing for self-defense and the preservation of the constitutional liberty. The only other speech of his that I shall mention was that delivered in the opera house in 1868, when the carpet-bag gentry were ruling and robbing the people of the State. That was the greatest speech of his life and was pronounced by competent judges to be the most brilliant one ever delivered in North Carolina.

Mr. Davis, as you all know, was Senator and later the Attorney General of the Confederate States in both of which positions he won the unqualified respect of his associates, and the affectionate confidence of the President. He was the honored friend of Robert E. Lee and it was doubtless, for that greatest of Americans recognized in him the same lofty moral traits which ennobled his own character and without which no man can be truly great, however distinguished he may be.

And now, ladies, the little service you asked of me—the brief preface to the volume of worthy tribute to be paid when this statue shall be unveiled—is done. I cordially congratulate you upon the success of your patriotic efforts to erect a suitable memorial to a most eminent citizen of our State. At a little distance yonder, stands the shaft erected by another noble band of North Carolina women in honor of Cornelius Harnett, the Revolutionary statesman and patriot to whom Mr. Davis gave the title of the "Pride of the Cape Fear."

Henceforth, that title shall belong to him who gave it.

When Colonel Waddell had finished his splendid discourse the Delgado Band played "Dixie," which never fails to arouse a Southern assemblage, to the strains of which the crowd dispersed.

There was a pretty general suspension of business in the city for the corner stone laying and the people turned out en masse. The offices at the court house closed at 3:30 o'clock and did not re-open and all of the business men of the city who could possibly do so left their places of business and attended the exercises, and all joined reverently in the spirit of the occasion.

The Naval Reserves fired a salute at the conclusion of the exercises in honor of the occasion.

PROMINENT CITIZEN PASSES

Mr. Samuel Northrop Died Last Night, Following Stroke of Paralysis. Funeral Services Saturday Morning—Long Career.

Mr. Samuel Northrop is dead. This sad intelligence will be received with infinite sorrow by hundreds and hundreds of friends in Wilmington and this entire section of the State, for Mr. Northrop was one of the oldest, best known and most prominent citizens of Wilmington. He passed away at his residence, 506 Dock street, at 8:30 o'clock last night.

Mr. Northrop suffered a stroke of paralysis Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and though he was conscious until the second stroke at 8 o'clock yesterday morning he was unable to utter a word. After the second stroke yesterday morning his loved ones and most intimate friends who were apprised of the fact, realized that the end was near. Mr. Northrop was a remarkably active man for one of his years and though his health had been on the decline for a year or more he was at his place of business every day. He was a son of the late Mr. Isaac and Mrs. Susan Northrop and was born in Wilmington 76 years ago next February. In 1861 he and Miss Mary F. Houston, of this city, were happily married. His wife preceded him to the grave just 20 months ago today. Surviving are three brothers, Capt. W. H. Northrop, of Wilmington; Mr. John T. Northrop, of Charleston, S. C.; Mr. James S. Northrop, of Birmingham, Ala.; one sister, Mrs. Kate T. Cumming, of Wilmington, and three daughters, Misses Mary F. and Lizzie Northrop and Mrs. Howard McClintock, of Wilmington.

For more than 50 years Mr. Northrop was prominently identified with the lumber business in this city. He succeeded his father in the business, the name of the firm at that time being Northrop & Cumming Some 20 years ago the firm was dissolved and the S. & W. H. Northrop Lumber Company was organized, the business being continued at the same site with Mr. Northrop as the active manager, which position he filled until the time he was stricken with paralysis. Through the instrumentality of Mr. Northrop the firm established the largest West India trade of any lumber concern in the South.

Mr. Northrop was at one time a member of the Board of Aldermen; for years a member of the board of commissioners of Navigation and Pilotage; at the time of his death a Ruling Elder in the First Presbyterian Church, of which he was a member for more than a half a century; for years a school committeeman; for 20 years a director of the Clarendan Waterworks Co., and until recent years very active in the Masonic order. He could have been Mayor of the city during his term of office as Alderman had he desired. His vote decided the contest and he cast it for his opponent. He always had the welfare of the city at heart, but was probably most interested in the public schools of the county. He served as a committeeman of the Union school until on account of his health he was forced to resign and the present efficient school system is due in no small measure to his efforts. He was the founder of Immanuel Presbyterian church, which was organized as the result of his work in a Sunday School he taught in that section of the city. A more charitably disposed man probably never lived. He was generous to a fault. Hundreds and hundreds of the poorer class of people of the city have been provided with food and raimment by him, and many are the loads of wood he has sent to homes that would not otherwise have enjoyed the warmth of fires in the dead of Winter His established business integrity and Christian character will leave an imprint that the hand of time will not erase. He was in every sense of the word a good, moral, God-fearing, law-abiding, neighbor-loving, Christian gentleman, and his death removes from Wilmington one of its most highly esteemed citizens. His death has left a void in the family circle, in the church he loved so well, and in the business life of the community. The tenderest sympathy of friends goes out to the grief-stricken members of the family.

The funeral services will be conducted from the First Presbyterian Church tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. M. Wells, and the interment will be in Oakdale cemetery.

CHRISTIAN CONFERENCE

Annual Meeting at Second Advent Christian Church.

The Second Advent Christian Conference for Eastern North Carolina convened in yearly session in the Second Advent Christian Church, on South Sixth street, yesterday morning, being called to order by the president, Rev. G. W. Shepard. After devotional exercises routine business was transacted. There are 40 delegates in attendance and the conferences will last through Sunday.

Negro Injured by Train.

Maxton, Oct. 13.—A negro named Jones, while stealing a ride on a Seaboard train last night fell under the baggage car and had a foot cut off. He at first seated himself on the front of the engine while it was stopped at the crossing, but Engineer Bundy happened to see him and stopped to put him off. As the engine passed he caught on the rear of it and started on his intended trip, but as he failed to catch a good hold rode only about a quarter of a mile when he fell with the above results.

THE STATE IN EPITOME

¶News, Comment and Incidents as Reflected in the North Carolina Press. : : : : : : :

Charlotte Schools.

Charlotte Chronicle: The total enrollment in the city schools to date is 5,125 pupils, this number being nearly as large as the entire enrollment for the last scholastic year, thus showing that the enrollment for the present year will far exceed that of last year as many of the pupils will not enter school until after the holidays. Of the above number 2,828 pupils are within the old city limits, leaving about 300 in the new territory.

Decide on Charlotte.

Greensboro, Oct. 13.—The executive committee of the State Association of County Commissioners in session here tonight, to select a time and place for holding the third annual State convention next year, after hearing invitations and propositions from representatives of Salisbury, Asheville and Charlotte, selected Charlotte. The time fixed is the second Tuesday in August. A special committee on programme was named, who will report to a subsequent meeting of the executive committee.

Mountain Pythians.

Asheville Citizen: A Knights of Pythias lodge will be organized at West Asheville tomorrow night by Grand Chancellor George L. Hackney, assisted by District Deputy F. O'C. Fletcher, 15 or 20 men will be initiated at the time of the organization and the third rank will be conferred next week, a team from Pisgah and Asheville lodges. The new lodge will be numbered 210. Special arrangements for transportation will be provided and those intending to participate are asked to notify Mr. Fletcher today.

Nethersole to Charlotte.

Charlotte Chronicle: Mr. A. Tridon, press representative and business manager of Miss Olga Nethersole, who will appear in Charlotte at the Academy of Music Friday night, October 22, is in the city today. Mr. Tridon states that a wrong impression has gone abroad with reference to the play which will be presented in Charlotte by Miss Nethersole. Instead of playing "The Writing on the Wall," the bill will be "Sappho." Miss Nethersole carries a company of 30 people and her appearance in Charlotte will perhaps be the leading theatrical event of the season.

Court Stenographer in Wake.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 13.—Judge W. R. Allen has appointed a committee of three members of the Wake county bar to act with the clerk of the superior court in the matter of getting the "kinks" out of the court stenographer situation here. The present act provides that the official stenographer shall have an allowance of $2 for each criminal case docketed whether stenographic service is required or not. There has been no regular stenographer for some time past and the plan is to engage one permanently at a fixed salary of something like $100 per month instead of the free system.

McNair's Store Burglarized.

Laurinburg Exchange: Some parties, whose identity is unknown, broke and entered the store of Mr. John F. McNair last Saturday night. The means employed to enter the building was that of piling goods boxes on top of each other high enough to reach an upstairs window which was not protected by iron bars. This window was raised and an entry made through it. In getting out, the party or parties opened a side door which was bolted from the inside and made their exit through the doorway. Owing to the fact that the goods in the store were somewhat in a state of disorder after Saturday's business, it was impossible to tell what had been taken. Mr. Gus Leach, who sleeps up stairs in the building, was not aroused by the burglars and nothing was known of the occurrence until Sunday morning.

Frost Near Charlotte.

Charlotte Observer: The report of the local weather observer is to the effect that a frost of killing character was discernible yesterday morning and that the lowest temperature of the Fall season was recorded. The frost was general over the cotton belt and was seen by many in parts of the city and this county. Previous reports of a slight covering of frost have been received, but the frost amounted to nothing and the weather man had no records of such. It is believed that the frost will do considerable damage to young crops. Cotton will be cut off, but to what extent is a matter of the purest speculation. Young corn which had just reached the stage where it was marketable for table use was stricken down by the cold and will have to be cut and fed to the horses. The farmers generally mowed their pea crop and thereby saved a loss which would undoubtedly have been somewhat heavy.

Cow Drank Kerosene.

Asheville Citizen: Limestone township of this county, has added some information to the world's knowledge by proving by practical experiment that a plain, common ordinary cow can drink three gallons—to be exact—three gallons and one quart of ordinary kerosene distributed by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey (incorporated and commonly called a trust) and yet live. That is a fact. Last Friday a cow, name unknown, belonging to Samuel Sumner, was thirsty and as no water was near began to look around for something drinkable. Mr. Sumner had been emptying the large oil can at the Bonnie Crest hotel at Skyland and had left the oil in a large pail near the cow which was pasturing in the yard. The cow spied the oil and proceeded to drink the same. When Sumner returned the cow was sick of course. He hastened to the village horse doctor and a large dose of medicine was prescribed. The next day the cow got better and it eating again and doing well. After three days the animal began to sweat and the perspiration was oily and had the odor of gerosene.

DEDICATION OF ST. LAWRENCE'S.

Impressive Ceremony in Asheville on Sunday of Coming Week.

(Asheville Gazette-News.)

Everything is now about ready for the dedication Sunday of the new St. Lawrence Catholic Church, of Asheville; a church erected at a total cost of more than $100,000, and perhaps the handsomest edifice in North Carolina. Already friends of the church from other towns who are to attend the dedicatory services are arriving and it is expected that by the end of the week many others will be present to witness the interesting and impressive ceremony.

The final work on the church will be ended this week, when the handsome panel over the front entrance will be put in place. This panel will be of glazed tile and will show the figure of Christ with His disciples. The panel in sections arrived by express yesterday from Boston and the work of placing it will commence Thursday.

The greater portion of the dedication ceremony with Bishop Haid in charge, will take place outside the church. The doors of the church will be closed, and none will be admitted until after the outside service, when the walls will be blessed and other exercises occur. Then the procession, headed by the cross-bearer and the bishop and the priests will move to the main entrance where prayers will be said; the doors will then be thrown open and the procession will enter the church as the Litany is sung. This will be followed by solemn high mass.

The dedicatory music Sunday will be in charge of Mrs. O. C. Hamilton, of Asheville, with a choir of perhaps 20 to 25 voices selected from the best musical talent in the city. Caryl Florio will preside at the organ. It is stated that admittance Sunday will be only by card, which are this week being distributed by Rev. Father Marion. Only 1,000 cards of admission will be issued and no more than this number will be admitted to the services by reason of the fact that this is the greatest number that the church can accommodate.

While only 1,000 persons will be admitted to the church during the services, it is probable that many more than this number will witness the outside exercises.

HOMICIDE IN LAURINBURG.

Brother-in-Lawe Engaged in Difficulty That Resulted Fatally.

(Laurinburg Exchange.)

Last Friday afternoon at about 4 o'clock, Will Waddell shot and killed Albert Jordan on the streets of East Laurinburg, formerly Scotland village. After shooting Jordan down, Waddell attempted to make his escape and succeeded in getting about three-quarters of a mile away from the place of the killing before being caught. If he had not been under the influence of whiskey he might have maanged to make his escape. As it was, he got out into a cotton patch and lay down and was unable to get up or else he attempted to hide in the cotton, for he was found lying in a cotton row and was taken into custody by Messrs. Brayboy, Taylor Fields, Arch Gibson and some others.

Waddell had been living at the Scotland Mill about a month and came here from Raleigh, where his father lives. He is a man about 25 to 30 years of age and is married. His wife is a sister of the man he killed. Jordan came to the Scotland mill from Bennettsville and had just moved from there the day he was killed and had not got all of his goods into his house when the tragedy occurred. He was a man of about 20 years of age.

The shooting was done on the sidewalk on one of the streets of the village and within a few steps of where the Laurinburg and Southern track crosses the street, just in front of the house occupied by Mr. John Cameron and within a few steps of the house into which Mr. Jordan was moving.

JOHNSONS PURCHASE ESTATE.

Transfer of Valuable Property in Asheville, N. C., This Week.

(Asheville Gazette-News.)

A real estate deal of considerable interest, especially as it shows the great value of Asheville dirt, was consummated within the last few days, with the purchase by William Johnson, Jr., Capt. R. P. Johnston and Harold E. Johnston, of the interest of the Cocke heirs, the Thomas D. Johnston heirs and the remainder interest of the R. P. Johnston heirs, in what is known as the Riverside boundary, lying between Pearson drive and the French Broad river. The boundary contains 50 acres, and was purchased at the rate of $400 an acre, or $20,000 for the entire property. This property was a part of the estate of the late William Johnston, and was purchased years ago, at a very nominal price.

For their fourth interest, the Cocke heirs received $5,000, the Thomas D. Johnston heirs $5,000; and the R. P. Johnston heirs, for their eighth, $2,500; making a total of $12,500 which was paid by the Johnstons for these interests. An eighth, unsold interest, belongs to Capt. R. P. Johnston, valued at $2,500, and a fourth is held by Capt. W. T. Weaver, valued at $5,000. This property may be opened up and divided into lots in the near future.

WOULD DISCOUNT EXPLORER COOK

Alleged Only Companion Says Didn't Reach Top of Mt. McKinley.

BELATED AFFIDAVIT ARRIVES

New York, Oct. 14.—The Globe this afternoon prints a copy of the affidavit made by Edwin N. Barrill, who accompanied Dr. Frederick A. Cook at the time he announced his reaching the summit of Mount McKinley. The affidavit was made before a notary public at Tacoma, Wash., on October 4th, and has just been received in New York.

Barrill's affidavit states in effect that he was the only person present with Dr. Cook on the date when he claims to have reached the summit of Mount McKinley; that they did not in fact reach the summit, and the nearest point to the summit reached was at least 14 miles distant from the summit of that mountain, the elevation at no time exceeding 10,000 feet. Barrill's affidavit also brings into question a number of the photographs which Dr. Cook has given as representing the summit and other high altitudes of Mount McKinley.

Barrill's affidavit says at the outset that he was born in Buffalo in 1864 and now resides at Darby, Montana. He says he was the only party present with Dr. Cook when he claims to have reached the summit of Mount McKinley, and that he is the party referred to as "Barrille or Edward Barrille" in Dr. Cook's book entitled "To the Top of the Continent," bearing upon the expedition to Mount McKinley. He details his first meeting with Dr. Cook at Missoula, where the latter was accompanied by Professor Parker, of Columbia University, R. W. Porter and others.

The organization of the McKinley expedition is explained, the members consisting of Fred Printz, a guide; Bellmore Brown, an artist and naturalist of Tacoma; Walter Miller, a photographer of Seattle; Samuel Beecher, who acted as cook for the party, and Barrill. The party sailed from Seattle May 17, 1906. Barrill recounts that at the start of the trip he kept an exact diary and sets forth that this diary, marked Exhibit A, attached to the affidavit, "is a pocket diary kept by me during all the time that Dr. Cook and I were together near Mount McKinley and the same is a truthful record, with the exception of the entries and changes made by me therein, under the orders of Dr. Cook.

The diary referred to by Barrill as attached to the affidavit is now in the possession of the New York Globe.

The affidavit then proceeds as follows: "On the evening of September 9th, 1906, Dr. Cook and I started alone for the purpose of exploring Mount McKinley. He informed me before starting that his purpose was to find a way for ascending the mountain, as he and Prof. Parker intended to climb the mountain the following year.

"As shown by my diary, we took to the ice on September 9th. From and including the 9th down to and including the 18th of September, all writings in my diary are by me, but were made under the direction of Dr. Cook. I also changed the dates during this time under his direction. The figures 12,000 on the date of September 12th were changed by me at the dictation of Dr. Cook. On September 12th Dr. Cook directed me to stop keeping my diary and leave the pages therein blank. I cannot now remember the exact dates or figures which I had in my diary, before I was so directed to change them, but I know the elevation under what now appears September 12th was not to exceed 9,000, and I think it was 8,000.

"We quit any further attempts towards ascending the mountain upon September 15th and returned to the boat, a gasoline launch, named Bolshey, which lay in the water at the foot of the glacier. We reached the launch on September 19th, having traveled 26 miles or more on the ice of the glacier from the place we quit climbing, on September 15th.

"On September 16th, when at our first camp returning from the glacier, I doctored and changed the entries therein from and including September 19th down to and including 12th. The changes were made under the orders of Dr. Cook.

"From the 12th to the 16th was written at on the night of the 16th and from the 16th to and including the 18th was written in our last camp returning on the evening of the 18th, and written solely under the dictation of Dr. Cook, and just as he said: From and including September 19th down to the end of the diary on November 9th the entries therein are my own. They cover the actual facts and were not dictated to me by any one.

"Dr. Cook first told me to stop my diary on September 12th, when we were in our fifth camp, going up the glacier, and at or near the point which Dr. Cook claimed as the top of Mount McKinley. This point was within sight of us at the time. Dr. Cook stated at this time and place that the same conditions existed there as did exist on the top of Mount McKinley and directed me to stop my diary until further orders. At this time he had been to the top of the point claimed by the doctor as the top of the mountain and the doctor had taken a photograph of the point with me standing on the top thereof, with the American flag in my hand. The photograph to which I refer is shown opposite, in page 122 of the doctor's book, entitled "To the Top of the Continent" before mentioned. The jagged marks on the apex of the snow in that picture, and shown from the bottom of the picture up to the granite rock forming the top of the point, are my foot marks and those of Dr. Cook. My best recollections of this are as follows:

"Dr. Cook and I went to the top of this point together, and he said, we will go back down and get a picture of this. We did not take our bags with us to the top of the point, having left them down in the saddle above the glacier. We then both went down from the point to where our bags had been left. The doctor took the American flag out of one of the bags and handed it to me, and sent me back to the top of the point, and told me to hold it there on the end of the ice axe, which I did.

"The doctor, then, with his camera took the picture shown on page 122, which picture is there designated as "The Summit of Mount McKinley" in his work "To the Top of the Continent," the truth being that the summit of Mount McKinley was over 20 miles distant in an air line from the point where my picture pages 152 and 163 in the book referred to above. I then came down with the flag to where Dr. Cook was standing with his camera and I made the remark that the eight peaks on the other side of this point where I had been photographed would probably show in the picture and he said that he had taken the picture at such an angle that those peaks would not show. The peaks to which I refer are sketched by me in my diary and are marked 1 to 8 inclusive, and are shown in said diary on the page just preceding the date appearing therein as September 9th and on the pages following September 12th. Those peaks were so sketched and numbered by me when I was in the camp opposite them where I could have a fine view of them. The camps where I so sketched the peaks are the camps peaks marked upon my drawing 'Exhibit C" hereunto attached, as the 6th and 8th camps when we were going up the glacier.

"When we were in the Saddle Bear the point where I was photographed, I made a drawing of what I named "Glacier Point," at the same time and point I made a drawing Mount McKinley off to the northwest, and I should say at least 20 miles away. This drawing of Glacier Point and Mount McKinley shown in my diary, on the 4th and 5th pages of the sketches therein, represents conditions as they appeared to me upon the ground. Dr. Cook stood by my side when I was making these sketches, using his instruments for the purpose of taking temperature, elevations and the like. We remained on the saddle after I was photographed on the point for about one-half hour, during which I sketched as above stated, and the doctor used his instruments.

"When I came down from the point and handed the doctor the flag in addition to what I stated above, he made several other remarks and there was more or less talking done which I do not now recall; but whether at that place or thereafter between the 14th and 16th of the month when my diary was doctored to fit the conditions that this point was the top, he stated to me as follows: "That point would make a good top for Mount McKinley. It looks just about like the gunsight peak would look on Mount McKinley, which we had been looking at from the saddle.

"In about half an hour after the pictures were taken we fixed up our packs and at about 10:30 o'clock or 11 o'clock on September 13th we started down and arrived on the place designated in "Exhibit O" as 6th camp, the doctor saying that he wanted to get around there in order to get further up on the main glacier so as to get a good view of the N. E. Ridge leading up to the summit of Mount McKinley, so as to ascertain if that ridge was connected solid with the top of the mountain, so that it would have an appearance similar to the description that he would have to give in his writings; as the doctor had seen the mountain from all sides excepting this side, and as this was the side where he proposed to claim that he had climbed it, he wished to know the nature of the ridge leading up to the top of the mountain so that he could write about it as it appeared. In doing this we put in the balance of the 13th and all of the 14th and 15th days of September and at the 8th camp. On September 15th Dr. Cook made his observations of the ridge. We then turned back from this camp for the reason that we had both fallen through crevasses as correctly stated in the diary and we considered it too dangerous to proceed further without snow shoes as the doctor had obtained a good view of the ridge which was what he wanted.

"I was with Dr. Cook continuously every day during the time he was trying to ascend the mountain in the year 1906 and the nearest point to the summit of Mount McKinley, which we reached was at least 14 miles distant from the summit of that mountain, and at no time did we reach an elevation in excess of 10,000 feet and the doctor told me when we were at the place where my picture was taken that we were not over 8,000 feet. I neglected to state that on the 16th of September and on the evening of September 9th Dr. Cook asked me if I was willing to stay with him. I said 'Yes,' when he said, 'I will see you get $200 extra for doing so.'

"The photograph opposite page 171 in Dr. Cook's book, above mentioned, and described therein as 'the eastern cliffs of Mount McKinley' are not such cliffs, but are a part of the eastern slope of the eighth peak of the peaks above mentioned, and drawn by me in my diary attached hereto.

"The photograph opposite page 192 in Dr. Cook's book was taken the evening of the same day that he took me with the flag at what he claims as the top of Mount McKinley and was taken at Camp 6, shown on attached Exhibits "C" and "D." The camp in this picture is noted therein to be at 5,000 feet. This being so, the point where my picture was taken with the flag should not exceed 7,000 feet as the 5,000 feet camp was established from six to eight hours after my picture was so taken.

"The drawing shown opposite page 204 of Dr. Cook's book, above mentioned, is entirely false, as we never built a snow house on the trip although the diary, as dictated by the doctor, says so; nor did we shake hands or have any other similar ceremonies as stated in the diary.

"The drawing opposite page 209 of the book is also false. We never climbed anything half as steep as there shown and we never established any camp nor slept as there shown. We slept every night upon comparatively level spots.

"The photograph opposite page 226 in the doctor's book, entitled "In the Silent Glory and Snowy Wonder of the Upper World 15,500 Feet," was taken two or three hours before the taking of my picture with the flag, and was taken in the amphitheatre about one mile northeasterly of the point where it was so photographed."

THE TRIUMPH OF PRIVATE RIGHT.

We doubt if the public generally appreciates the importance of the recent decision of Judge Anderson, defeating the attempt of the government to carry to Washington Delevan Smith and Chas. R. Williams, of the Indianapolis, News, for trial on a charge of criminal libel against the United States. We hear much of "nationalism," of the undue extension of the Federal power, of the extinction of ancient principles of States' rights. But it is a refreshing and hopeful sign that, at the very threshold of the most audacious attempt of this sort ever conceived of, the private citizen finds his right declared and his person protected by a member of the Federal judiciary, charged to be the chief weapon and reliance of those whose dream is of a centralized government behind whose concentrated powers the average monarchy will be democratic. It is another fine illustration of the truth that equity still reigns in the courts, and that not even the President who creates a judge can afterwards control his decisions.

This whole matter has savored from the first of persecution and tyranny. It has smacked almost of a modern belief in the "divine right" of rulers. It was typical of and expressive of Roosevelt and his policies. To use the courts of the government to seize private individuals and carry them to the national capital for trial was a grasp for a power that, made a few years before, would well-nigh have produced a revolution. The pretext upon which the proposed procedure was based was even more Czaristic. To make a man guilty of libel against the "government" is too much like "lese Majeste" to liberty-loving people. Yet it will be a good lesson to the great Ego in Africa and to those who would pattern after his petulant methods of punishment to learn that before such proceedings can be "pulled off" they must pass the calm and critical eye of a brave judge, sitting apart from the turmoil, unimpressed by clamor and unafraid to do justice.

Whatever the merits of the "Panama scandal," and out of recent political history still comes the stink and shame of its unwholesome features—the principle that now even the government itself can brow-beat a private citizen is worth all that it has cost. The shift almost overnight from the Nicaragua to the Panama route, the bold faced "Panama revolution," the personnel of those interested in the deal between the United States and France are circumstances which would have wrought for silence in any one less careless of dignity than the republic we had almost said "late—President. Let it be hoped that now the corpse of the whole matter will be buried deep lest where it can no longer smell. In the meantime the jolt given to an assumption of form which even Cromwell would have hesitated at will survive as an important reaffirmation of the principle of a free government, exercised according to and under the form of a dispassionate and impartial law.

GOOD ADVICE FROM THE WEST.

The newspapers of the South, and especially the agricultural journals, are constantly urging the farmers to abandon the one crop system, to diversify farm products and to raise more of the necessaries of life—to so conduct their farms that they may come nearer "living at home," and be less dependent on the farms of the West, says the Charlotte Observer. The Observer says it is not surprising that the home papers should give this advice, for they know that such course would be to the interest, not only of the farmers, but of all citizens.

It is rather surprising, however, to see such advice coming from a paper published in the center of that section which has for so long been a large source of the South's supply of grain, meat and hay. An article of this sort is found in a recent issue of the Joliet (Ills.) Republican.

It says: "We often wonder why the Southern folks depend on the West for their bacon. They can raise hogs right at home and come pretty near making as good pork as the West. Corn and cowpeas will make a hog hump from pigtime to the pork barrel, and these crops grow to perfection in the South." It says the South is the home of the cowpea and that Southern farmers can raise from 60 to 100 bushels of corn to the acre "whenever they get down to business." The Republican advises the Southern farmers to give the tobacco trust a blow in the short ribs by cutting out tobacco for a few years and going in for hogs. As to cotton it says: "They talk about cotton as a money crop down South. Of course it is, but it is no better than hogs; they are as good as ready money any time." The Southern farmer, it says, is learning the new agricultural game, but he is yet a bit slow; that "he will wake up one of these days, and when he begins to turn into pork his rape, alfalfa, soja corn, beans, peanuts, vetch, cowpeas and things of that kind which grow so abundantly in that gracious climate, he will keep millions at home which is now going elsewhere."

There is a lot of truth in what the Republican says, and the Observer is glad to know that Southern farmers are already waking up and learning the importance of these very things.

The Taft Summer home is closed. Beverly will now understand how it feels to "swink."

The charge is that doctors are getting to be almost as free with their knives as the Devil is careless with fire.

Killing frosts are merely another stitch in the shroud of those who are going to artificially "bear" the price of cotton.

With cotton at thirteen cents, the farmer is most assuredly in the saddle, and he's going some, and then some, too.

President Taft certainly did North Carolina Republicans no good when he gave back to them the Hon. Richmond Pearson.

Spain should have learned by this time that there is no profit in killing a school teacher or an editor. Such blood cries from the ground for vengeance.

It will be noticed that the only difference in the trust prosecutions is that they are no longer under Washington date lines with "big head" Roosevelt comments.

McCurren is out of the New York fight by reason of an attack of appendicitis. We always knew that it would take some sort of an operation to cut out this gentleman's politics.

Mr. Crane is not disturbed at his failure to hear from the President acknowledging the receipt of his telegraphic resignation. He doubtless thinks that he knows what the answer will be.

That negro sentenced at Raleigh to electrocution should certainly bless these times of piping prosperity that forbade that electrical apparatus be long made up in time his shuffling off the mortal coil today.

"Frost in the Cotton Belt!" That was the most bracing intelligence contained in the headlines of yesterday morning's papers for the average North Carolina farmer. Pittsburg and Detroit weren't in it with the hit that news made with Mr. Grower.

Judge Gaynor, of New York, is quoted as answering attacks upon his character in the words of Epictetus, "That which another man saith of thee concerneth more him who saith it than it concerneth thee." However, we have not yet noticed that the judge has learned to "turn the other cheek."

Notwithstanding the affidavit of one Barrill, alleged only companion of Dr. Frederick A. Cook when he attained the summit of Mount McKinley, the American people will be slow to discredit the great explorer and will wonder who, the mischief, this fellow Barrill is anyway.

That penitentiary warden from Raleigh who jumped off the train in New York after the prisoner whom he was conveying back to North Carolina and who had preceded him by a few seconds, can probably realize the claims of the North to rapid transit as compared with railroading in the South.

Says the New York World: "The World is well awart that Judge Gaynor, though extremely able, has many faults. They are faults which we have criticised sharply in the past and shall probably have to criticise again in case he is elected mayor. But no man has ever impeached his integrity. For 30 years he has been unswervingly independent in politics. He has successfully fought scoundrels like McKane and corrupt political machines like that of McLaughlin. His political battles have always been on the side of the masses and against privilege. His long experience on the bench, his legal training, his careful study of municipal questions, his proved courage and his conceded abilities all combine to justify the expectation that he would make a strong, vigorous, independent mayor, such as New York needs." Is our vigorous and excitable contemporary about to develop, in Gaynor, another Roosevelt—to love, honor, scold, fret over, cherish as the apple of its eye, and abuse ad lib., in wide measure double-leaded type?

CURRENT COMMENT.

The public health and marine hospital service has compiled a record of 1,000 cases of disease, which it labels pellagra, 500 of which are credited to South Carolina. Since 1906 they estimate that there have been 1550 cases in this country, a majority in the Southern States. A national conference on pellagra is to be held soon in Columbia, and scientific men from all parts of the country, who have studied the disease will be present.—Asheville Gazette-News.

The "campaign of education" which is being waged against the "catalogue house" seems to be bearing good fruit in many sections of the country, but those concerns are still drawing heavy tolls from communities wherein they never invest a single dollar. Many persons are deluded by the fallacy that the prices quoted in the "profusely illustarted" catalogue are much lower than the local merchant can make, even after the express charges are paid—you always have the charges to pay. A certain person in this city sent to New York for a bill of goods amounting to $3.85. The express charges amounted to $1.85, making a total of $5.70. The same merchandise, it was found upon subsequent investigation, could have been purchased in Asheville for $3.75. But that is an old story.—Asheville Citizen.

Charles R. Crane has resigned as Minister to China. On yesterday it was announced that Secretary Knox would accept his resignation. Mr. Crane was recently appointed to this important diplomatic position. Story of his recent unfortunate action, which led Secretary Knox to call him post haste to Washington, and later of his resignation has been covered fully by press dispatches. Several names were mentioned for this position before Mr. Crane was appointed, among the number being that of Mr. D. A. Tompkins, of this city. In the opinion of The News no better man could be found for this very important office in the diplomatic service than Mr. Tompkins. It is our earnest hope that the name of Mr. Tompkins may be considered favorably by the president.—Charlotte News.

The interest attached to the graduation of nine trained nurses from the Charlotte Sanatorium, will not be confined to Charlotte, but will spread far beyond the bounds of this city and of the State. The graduation of a class of trained nurses means more than would the graduation of a class of doctors, for the doctors we have had with us always, but the trained nurse only quite recently. Each class of trained nurses sent out into the world means the addition by that much to the modern equipment for the care of the sick and the betterment of the health of the people. This country is never going to have a surplus of trained nurses. Her field of occupation is too broad and too varied, and the place she fills so peculiarly her own, that she has become an institution that can never be dispensed with.—Charlotte Chronicle.

A COLD-BLOODED MURDER.

Engineer Asks Negro to Move, But Instead He Drew Gun.

(Special to The Observer.)

Edenton, Oct. 13.—Engineer McClure of the tug Lucy was shot down by a negro yesterday shortly after the boat left her dock with supplies and workmen for the bridge being built four miles out the bay. The negro whose name could not be learned, was standing in the door of the engine room when the engineer requested him to move. Instead of obeying the request the negro whipped out a pistol and shot the engineer in the throat, killing him instantly. The report of the gun brought all hands to the deck and for a time the negro's life was in danger, but through the coolness of the captain the men were restrained until the boat was turned back and the murderer turned over to the sheriff. After he was brought ashore and landed in jail threats of lynching were heard, but all is quiet at this hour and violence is not expected. The negro claims the engineer made an attempt to strike him with a hammer and that some one at his back did the shooting, but witnesses of the tragedy declare it a deliberate, cold-blooded murder. Mr. McClure was about 60 years of age and one of the oldest men in the service. His family lives in Norfolk and the remains were shipped there this afternoon for burial.

Death of Mrs. Julia O. Sellers.

Maxton, Oct. 13.—Mrs. Julia O. Sellers, aged 81, died at the home of her son here, Mr. G. B. Sellers, at 4 o'clock Tuesday morning, after being stricken with paralysis a few days ago. She had been in delicate health for several years and moved from her own home in the country to that of her son here a few months ago on account of the death of her only daughter. The deceased was a well known and very estimable woman in this community and her death is mourned by a host of friends. She was the widow of Mr. William Sellers, who died a good many years ago, and belonged to a prominent family. Major G. B. Sellers and Mr. J. B. Sellers are the only surviving children. The funeral was preached at the residence here and the interment took place at the old family burying ground about four miles in the country.

Feeding Farm Hands.

Every farmer's wife knows what tremendous appetites farm hands usually have; but while they eat well they work well, too.

Here's a good suggestion about feeding farm hands. Give them plenty of Quaker Oats. A big dish of Quaker Oats porridge with sugar and cream or milk is the greatest breakfast in the world for a man who needs vigor and strength for a long day's work. The man that eats Quaker Oats plentifully and often is the man who does good work without excessive fatigue. There is a sustaining quality in Quaker Oats not found in other foods, and for economy it is at the head of the list. To meet needs of those in different climates Quaker Oats is packed in regular size packages and hermetically sealed tins; the latter for hot climates. 20

IN HONOR OF GEORGE DAVIS

Superior Court Adjourned for Corner-Stone Exercises—One Jury Trial Yesterday Morning—Motions Were Argued.

Upon motion of Mr. Eugene S. Martin, dean of the bar of the county, Judge Oliver H. Allen adjourned Superior court at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and His Honor and members of the bar attended in a body the laying of the corner-stone of the monument to be erected to the late Hon. George Davis, attorney general of the Confederacy. There was a little more doing in Superior court yesterday morning than any day this week, there being one jury trial and argument on several motions.

The resolution of Mr. Martin, which was ordered placed upon the minutes, was as follows:

"Whereas, the Wilmington Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy has set apart this, the 14th day of October, 1909, at 4 o'clock P. M., for laying the corner-stone of the statue to be erected to the memory of the late Hon. George Davis, and has invited the bar of New Hanover county to attend said ceremony, which invitation has been accepted, and

"Whereas, the Superior Court of New Hanover, His Honor, O. H. Allen, judge presiding, is now in session:

"Therefore the bar of New Hanover county respectfully moves the Court that, in order that the bench and bar of this court may pay this tribute of respect and do honor to the illustrious the Hon. George Davis, who, by his great abilities, extensive learning, brilliant, eloquent and exalted character, reflected lustre upon this bar, this city and this State, this court do now adjourn."

A case in which B. F. Penny & Co., were plaintiffs and F. J. Dempsey defendant appealed from a magistrate's court, was tried yesterday morning. The plaintiff company was suing for $20.25 alleged to be due for goods sold to a son of the defendant. The boy, who was under 14 years old, purchased a suit of clothes and other goods from B. F. Penny & Co., and had them charged to his father. From the evidence Mr. Dempsey carried the goods back to the store and requested that the merchant take them, stating that they were not worth the price charged. This the plaintiffs refused to do and Mr. Dempsey carried the goods away again. The jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiffs for the full amount. Kellum & Loughlin appeared for the plaintiffs and A. J. Marshall, Esq., for the defendant.

Judgments for dismissal were signed in the following cases: Katherine Vollers against W. H. Best; W. T. Smith against Lena Wessell; Frank Jones, et al., against S. C. Copeland and Catherine Holloway.

Argument was made on the findings made by a referee, Cameron F. MacRae, Esq., in a suit growing out of the failure of the old New Hanover Bank. It was an action brought by Mr. B. F. Keith to have the receiver of the bank, Junius Davis, Esq., pay back the sum of $500, which had been paid by Mr. Keith for a tract of land in Bladen county, it afterwards developing that the deed that the bank held was defective and the courts declared J. D. Kerr, of Sampson, the owner of the property. The referee had decided that the $500 should be returned to Mr. Keith and the argument yesterday morning was upon the report of Mr. MacRae. Robert Ruark and C. D. Weeks, Esqs., appeared for Mr. Keith and Thos. W. Davis, Esq., for the receiver. Judge Allen took the matter under advisement.

The petitions of Williams Bros., for the appointment of a receiver for property owned by Mr. L. H. McClammy, of Scott's Hill, against which the plaintiffs have brought an action to foreclose a mortgage, which was brought up a few days ago, was argued at length, Rountree & Carr for Williams Bros., and Herbert McClammy and A. G. Ricaud, Esqs.' for the defendant. Judge Allen reserved his decision in this case also.

Judge Allen announced his decision in the cases against Messrs. A. E. Peschau and J. R. Turrentine, Jr., brokers, who were indicted by the last grand jury for doing business without the payment of the special or privilege tax provided for in the Revenue and Machinery act. The decision is in favor of the defendants. Argument in the cases was heard by Judge Allen several days ago, Geo. L. Peschau, Esq., appearing for the defendants and Solicitor Rodolph Duffy for the State. Mr. Peschau argued that the license or privilege tax provided for in the Revenue and Machinery act of North Carolina was not intended to apply to those engaged in inter-State commerce; that a construction ought to be put on it that would insure its constitutionality. He said that if the act embraced and intended to tax those engaged exclusively in inter-State commerce it was a violation of the inter-State commerce clause and prohibition by the constitution of the United States. He cited a number of United States Supreme court decisions to support his contention. Judge Allen took the matter under advisement and yesterday morning rendered his decision. It is not known whether the case will be carried to the Supreme court. It was the purpose of the defendants to carry the case to the higher court had Judge Allen decided against them.

ADD WALKER WEDS.

The ceremony was a pretty one, the bride being attended as maid of honor by her sister, Miss Gabrelle King, and the groom as best man by his brother, Mr. W. T. Walker. Other attendants were Miss Rowe and Mr. Scion King. The bride was handsomely attired in blue silk and the maid of honor was pretty in a gown of white batiste. Following the ceremony a reception was held at which delightful refreshments were served and many pretty presents were on display.

Mr. F. G. Fritz, Oneonta, N. Y., writes: "My little girl was greatly benefitted by taking Foley's Orino Laaxtive, and I think it is the best remedy for constipation and liver trouble." Foley's Orino Laxative is mild, pleasant and effective, and cures habitual constipation. Robt. R. Bellamy.

The Theatre

"The Lion and the Mouse," the play that has enjoyed over three years of almost unbroken duration as a supreme success, will be brought to the Academy tomorrow for matinee and night. While this great drama may have been seen and enjoyed by many local playhouse patrons it is fair to to assume that they will follow the example set through the country in their desire to witness the dealings and misdoings of John Burkett Ryder, afresh. Charles Klein has filled this play with such rapid action and bright material for serious thought that one fails to realize the full meaning of the author in seeing "The Lion and the Mouse" but once. A company of players of whom it is said surpass any yet seen in this play, will enact the many difficult roles. The scenic equipment will be complete in every detail and a delightful engagement is looked forward to by those who pride themselves in knowing what is what on the stage today.

Seats will go on sale this morning at the Crystal Palace for both performances. Bargain prices will prevail for the matinee, being 25, 50 and 75 cents, while the night scale will go to $1.50.

A Merry Comedy Company.

Neither dissatisfaction nor disappointment are to be seen in the faces of the audiences which greet "A Fool and His Money"—that truly delightful comedy by George H. Broadhurst, and which Manager Cross has sent on tour with a company of undoubted merit, headed by Lawrence Craddock, whose talents as a comedian are of a rare order. The Academy management announces that he has secured this charming play for Tuesday, October 19th.

The Merchant of Venice.

The management of the Academy of Music takes pleasure in announcing that the distinguished young actor, Edouard D'Oize, will shortly appear here under the management of Guy F. Gregg. Mr. D'Oize is presenting this season an elaborate production of "The Merchant of Venice." The production has been enthusiastically commended by the critics where it has thus far been seen, and has won for itself a foremost place in the season's offerings. A complete scenic investure has been provided as well as all Venetian stage appointments. The costuming has been properly studied and the music used is that employed in the notable Booth-Barrett production of fame established not to be forgotten. Mr. Gregg's company includes twenty people. It is, all in all, the most sumptuous Shakespearean production that will ask the consideration of our citizens this season.

Announcements of the sale of seats will be made in the daily papers or reservations by mail will be made in the order in which they are received.

The date of Mr. D'Oize's appearance is Monday the 18th.

At the Crystal.

Large audiences yesterday greeted the semi-weekly change of bill at the Crystal Palace and enjoyed the performances. The present bill, which without doubt is the best the popular vaudeville house has offered this season, seems to grow in favor each day. But only two more days, today and tomorrow, remain for Palace-goers to gather and enjoy the big bill. It must also be borne in mind that the present week is benefit week at the theatre for the Wilmington band and every one who attends a performance will really drop something in the coffers for this deserving project. The change of programme yesterday was a fine one and each artist came in for hearty approval.

At the Bijou Today.

A large number of the visiting Daughters of the Confederacy visited the Bijou yesterday as the guests of the management and they were lavish in their praise of the motion pictures. Today's programme is equally as strong, the feature pictures being "Caucasian Customs" and "Careless Tramp." Both are fine pictures and there will doubtless be a large audience at each performance.

GOVERNMENT BOATS.

Madeleine and Getty for the Taft Celebration.

Arrangements are being perfected for the various boats to participate in the Taft celebration by the river and harbor decorating committee and the marine parade if carried out according to plans will be a most spectacular one. Word has been received through the Custom House from Quartermaster Wm. R. McCleary, stating that it is possible the market boat Madeleine and the Gen. G. W. Getty, of the quartermaster's department, will participate, but will be used in transporting the soldiers from the fort to the city. A detachment of soldiers from Caswell has been detailed for this event and the boats will be rather busy in bringing them to Wilmington.

U. D. C. ELECT OFFICERS

Mrs. F. M. Williams Named as President—Mrs. Faison Endorsed for Presidency of Larger Body. Last Session Today.

Yesterday's sessions of the 13th annual convention of the North Carolina Division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy were featured in the morning by an eloquent and scholarly address by Dr. F. P. Venable, president of the University of North Carolina, and in the afternoon by the election of officers for the ensuing year. A large amount of important business was also transacted at the morning session. The concluding session of the convention will be held this afternoon and the delegates will begin leaving for their homes this afternoon.

The Morning Session.

The feature of yesterday morning's session was an address by Dr. F. P. Venable, president of the University of North Carolina, and his discourse was listened to most attentively by the Daughters and others in the assemblage. The convention assembled at 10:30 o'clock and was opened with prayer by the chaplain, Mrs. James Kenan, after which the minutes of the previous sessions were read and approved. There were in the convention several visitors, notably Col. A. M. Waddell, Rev. Dr. James Carmichael and Rev. Dr. L. L. Nash, Mrs. James Sprunt and others.

A few minutes were devoted to a memorial service in honor of the members who had passed away during the year. Since the last meeting a number of members of the Division had died and their names were recorded and short but beautiful tributes paid to them. Mrs. Wm. Parsley, president of the Cape Fear Chapter, reported that three members of the local chapter died during the year, these being Mrs. Wallace Carmichael, Mrs. J. M. Stevenson and Mrs. Charles D. Myers. She paid a beautiful tribute to them. The memorial service was of a sweet and impressive nature and at the conclusion of the eulogies the Daughters arose for a moment's silent prayer.

A splendid model of the George Davis monument was on exhibition in the room and the attention of the members was called to it by Mrs. Parsley. Mrs. Faison said that the monument was the work of Cape Fear Chapter and that all the South should have had a part in it.

The flag carried by Col. Roger Moore, Mrs. F. M. Williams, the recording secretary, read an interesting and inspiring sketch of the life of Colonel Moore, at the conclusion of which a rising vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. Moore for permitting the flag to be brought to the convention.

Dr. Venable Speaks.

Dr. F. P. Venable, president of the University, who has many friends and admirers in Wilmington, was introduced by Mrs. Faison in a few words and in course of her remarks she paid a high tribute to the great educator. Dr. Venable was invited to speak to the Daughters in the interest of the monument to the student-soldiers which the North Carolina Division will erect on the campus of the University. Mrs. James Kenan, of Wallace, is chairman of the monument committee, and Mrs. Cuthbert Martin, of this city, is chairman for the Wilmington district. Dr. Venable began his short but interesting and instructive address by congratualting the Daughters upon their high mission, the honoring of the bravery of the old soldiers and the cheering of the disappointed war and time-worn veterans and the preservation of the history of the struggle. "They are duties," he said, "and nobly are you fulfilling them. I address you today, not of my own seeking, but rather at your command. A few months ago I received a communication from Mrs. Kenan asking that I secure the permission of the trustees of the University to erect upon the campus a monument to the students who volunteered to fight in defense of the Southern Cause. The permission was readily given by the trustees."

Dr. Venable said that he was an adopted son of North Carolina, but one who loves the State as a native son. He had been thrilled with the historic story of the University and knew of no story in history that would compare with it. The placing of the monument on the campus is not a local matter, for North Carolina and the University are inseparable. The pages of the civil history of the State are filled with the deeds of University men. He regretted that the records had been imperfectly kept, and stated that even though the records are not complete the story is an inspiring one. There were all told more than 1,000 University men in the struggle between the States, enlisting from various States of the South and out of this number one-third were killed. At least 40 per cent. of the students entered the military service which is a record not equalled by any other institution. From some of the big Northern institutions there were 23 per cent., from University of Virginia, the speaker's alma mater, 25 per cent. Of those who volunteered from Virginia 225 were killed while of the North Carolinians between 340 and 350 never returned home. They laid down their lives in the most important battles of the war.

Dr. Venable said that he would like to see the monument at the University because it would tell eloquently of the story of the sacrifice made by the students prior to the civil war. Their record should ever be before the eyes of the present-day students. Tablets have been erected in memory of those who lost their lives and those who enlisted are worthy of a monument.

When Dr. Venable concluded Mrs. Kenan thanked him for leaving his duties at the University to come here to speak and a rising vote of thanks was tendered him by the convention.

Greetings were read from Mrs. Cornelia Branch Stone, of Galveston, Texas, president of the general organization.

Mrs. H. A. London, of Pittsboro, suggested that the monument at the University be unveiled at the semi-centennial of the class of '61 to 1911. It was stated by another member of the convention that Mrs. London paid the first dollar toward the monument fund for her husband. The Daughters will raise every cent they can for the monument and then appeal to the alumni of the University for aid.

The report of the Soldiers' Home was made by Mrs. M. S. Willard, chairman of that committee. It showed that the institution is in good condition and that recently the Daughters employed a trained nurse there.

George Davis Monument.

Miss Hettie James, president of the George Davis monument committee, submitted a most interesting report. She stated that she was appearing before the State convention for first time with a successful report and that the dreams of years were at last realized—a monument to the memory of George Davis. "You can today," she said, "see the laying of the corner-stone, about which I referred last year when I invited you to meet in Wilmington this year. The only vision of the future is to see the bronze in place which we hope to have done before the next meeting." She paid a high tribute to the man whose memory the monument will perpetuate, and spoke highly of the assistance given the committee by Mr. James Sprunt, who made a large donation and who had charge of the business affairs of the committee. She also spoke praisingly of the work of Mrs. Jennie DeRosset, of Wilmington, in the accumulation of the funds.

Mrs. T. J. Jarvis, of Greenville, stated that she and her husband desired to contribute something toward the monument and the inquiry was made if any additional funds were needed. Mrs. DeRosset replied that some money would be needed for incidentals, but she did not know the exact amount. Several chapters then asked to be permitted to contribute.

Memorial Arch at Raleigh.

Plans for the memorial arch which it is proposed to erect in Raleigh, were discussed at length. At the last meeting a committee was appointed to investigate and ascertain if the names of veterans could be carved upon the stones and the arch retain its beauty. After consulting with many experienced engineers the conclusion had been reached that the names should be inscribed upon bronze tablets placed on the side of the arch. The arch will be of Confederate gray stones and according to the plans submitted will be 24 feet wide at the base and 18 feet high and will cost about $2,000, of which amount $900 has already been contributed by 45 of the chapters of the State. It is hoped to have the entire amount in hand within the next two or three years. Upon motion of Mrs. Eugene Little the committee, of which Mrs. E. E. Moffitt is chairman, was empowered to proceed with the work of raising the funds and erecting the arch.

Mrs. Eugene Little, of Wadesboro, chairman of the committee of the North Carolina room in the Confederate museum in Richmond, Va., read her report, after which Mrs. J. Allison Hodges, of Richmond, Va., regent of the Virginia room, made a short address, in which she told of the effort being made to raise an endowment fund of $2,000 to keep up the museum. North Carolina yet has not contributed anything but the speaker hoped and believed that the matter would not be neglected much longer. Mrs. Latta Johnson, of Charlotte, regent of the room for North Carolina, also spoke of the imprtance of securing the endowment fund. She stated tha the Legislature had appropriated $100 a year for the maintenance of the room. The room now needs repainting and repapering. Texas is so far ahead in the way of contributions for the fund, she said, that the room lacked one thing in particular at this time and that was a portrait of Mrs. Stonewall Jackson, of Charlotte, and this will be provided in the near future, probably.

Shortly after 1 o'clock recess was taken and the Daughters went to the W. L. I. armory, where luncheon was served by the Cape Fear Chapter. Mrs. F. L. Huggins was chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the luncheon, which was greatly enjoyed by the visitors and members of the local chapter.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session of the convention assembled at 2:30 o'clock. The election of officers for the ensuing year was the principal matter considered. For president there were nominated Mrs. F. M. Williams, of Newton, the recording secretary; Mrs. Leo D. Heartt, of Raleigh; Mrs. Josephus Daniels, of Raleigh; Mrs. Marshal Williams, of Warsaw. The three last named requested that their names be withdrawn in favor of Mrs. F. M. Williams, of Newton, whose name they did not know would be presented tothe convention. Mrs. Williams was then elected by a rising vote. Mrs. Williams made a feeling speech in which she thanked the convention for the honor conferred upon her. Mrs. M. S. Willard, of Wilmington, was elected first vice president without opposition, the secretary being requested to cast the entire vote of the convention for her. The secretary also cast the vote of the convention for Mrs. Josephus Daniels, for second vice president; and Miss Carrie Leazer, of Mooresville, third vice president. Several names were presented for recording secretary, but were later withdrawn and Mrs. T. T. Thrash, of Tarboro, was unanimously elected. Mrs. W. C. Finister, of Newton, was elected corresponding secretary and Mrs. Eugene Little, of Wadesboro, was re-elected treasurer. Other officers were elected as follows: Registrar, Mrs. W. W. Watts, Charlotte; recorder of crosses, Mrs. Thos. D. Craig, of Gastonia, re-elected; historian, Miss Rebecca Cameron, Hillsboro, re-elected; assistant historian, Mrs. W. O. Shannon, Henderson, also re-elected; chaplain, Miss Hettie James, of Wilmington.

At the morning session the following young ladies were appointed tellers for the election with Mrs. Cuthbert Martin as chairman; Miss Madge Webb, of Shelby; Miss Shuford, of Gastonia; Miss Rodman, of Washington; Miss Anita DeRosset, of Wilmington. To the surprise of all the services of the tellers were not needed and after the election of the chaplain the president announced that the young ladies could retire to their seats. The election was probably the most harmonious in the history of the Division. Certainly it could not have been more harmonious.

Endorsed for President-General.

Mrs. Williams, the newly elected president, stated that North Carolina had an excellent chance of securing the next president general of the National organization and suggested that the convention endorse its candidate. Mrs. I. W. Faison, the retiring president, was nominated and upon motion of Mrs. Josephus Daniels she was endorsed for the office by a rising vote. Mrs. Faison said that it was the proudest moment of her life. She remarked that at the last general meeting the honor was tendered to Mrs. Stonewall Jackson, of Charlotte, but on account of her advanced age she declined to serve. She said that many of the States had endorsed her for the honor, but as there was another candidate in the field, a West Virginia lady, her election was not certain, the other lady having been connected with the general organization for a longer period. She again thanked the convention for naming her as their choice for the presidency of the larger body.

The new officers were then escorted to the stage and introduced to the convention. At 3:40 the convention took a recess until 10 o'clock this morning and the Daughters attended in a body the laying of the corner-stone of the monument to George Davis.

Concluding Session Today.

The convention will adjourn with a business session this morning. It is expected that a large amount of business will be transacted at this session. At noon the visitors will go to the Northrop Cottage, Wrightsville Beach, where they will be entertained at an oyster roast by the Cape Fear Camp, U. C. V. This will be the concluding feature of the convention.

The courtesies of the Bijou, Crystal Palace and Joyland have been extended the Daughters of the Confederacy and a large number of the visiting and local daughters visited these popular places of amusemeat yesterday. The performances were greatly enjoyed and the Daughters return thanks to the managements for their generous offers.

What you may have been calling the "good fortune in business affairs" of someone you know may be simply the courage to advertise.

FROM DR. COOK.

Replies to Statement From Barrill About Mt. McKinley Affair.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 14.—Expressing astonishment at the statement of Edward Barrill, who was with Dr. Cook on his trip to Mount McKinley and who says Cook did not reach the summit, Dr. Cook today maintained that he had ascended to the summit of Mount McKinley, and said further that if an expedition will follow the route he took, they will find the records deposited by him at the summit of the mount. Referring to Barrill's sworn statement, Dr. Cook said to a representative of the Associated Press:

"I cannot really understand why Barrill should have made such a statement as the newspapers reproduce if he was acting under normal conditions. I must say it surprises me. We were always on the most friendly terms. Until I know of the conditions under which this alleged affidavit was made I will make no specific reply to it. My account of the trip has been published. For the present it is the bald statement of one man against another.

"If an expedition of experienced mountaineers will follow the route that I took and will go to the ton of Mount McKinley they will find there the records which I deposited on attaining the summit of the mountain in the manner described in my book, 'To the Top of the Continent'."

DURHAM VETERANS COMING.

A Special Train From That City to the Taft Celebration.

The Durham County Veterans' Association has received and will probably accept the invitation extended them by Gen. James I. Metts, to attend the Taft celebration on November 9th.

The following in regard to the arrangements for a special train is taken from the Durham Sun:

"The veterans will in all probability go and Mr. Burke Hobgood, of the Durham & Southern, is figuring upon a special train to carry them there along with any excursionists who would like to attend the Taft celebration in Wilmington. There are expected several thousands in the parade, in which the Durham soldiers are asked to take a part."

ROBBERY OF STORE CHARGED.

Negro Tried for Stealing From McNair & Pearsall.

Thomas Wright, colored, was tried before Justice George Harriss yesterday morning on the charge of stealing three bags of rice and two bags of sugar from McNair & Pearsall, wholesale grocers, 214 North Water street, Tuesday. It was charged that Wright had a drayman to move the goods away. The dray was followed for several blocks and when it stopped Wright is said to have been only a short distance away.

Wright was formerly in the employ of the firm but had not worked for the company for the past two or three months. Mr. Pearsall testified that Wright admitted to him that he had stolen goods from the store, but denied any connection with the theft of Tuesday. It was said that this statement was made by the negro after Mr. Wright had told him that it would be better to tell the truth about the matter, intimating that it would not go near as hard with him in court. The negro drayman was put on the stand.

Justice Harriss reserved his decision until today. There may be other developments in the case. Herbert McClammy, Esq., represented McNair & Pearsall and L. Clayton Grant, Esq., appeared for the defendant. Wright, who was arrested Wednesday night by Constable W. B. Savage, is in jail in default of bond.

JUDGE ALLEN THE SPEAKER.

Fine Address Last Night to Grace Baraca Class—Exercises.

The Baraca Class of Grace M. E. Church last night in the lecture room, between 75 and 100 members in attendance, heard with rare interest and pleasure a splendid address by Judge Oliver H. Allen, of Kinston, who is presiding at the present term of court in this city. Judge Allen was presented by his personal friend, Herbert McClammy, Esq., president of the class, and his address was along the lines of Bible Study, enlarging upon the necessity of it and the enlargement of ideas that follows an acquaintance with the scripture. He was heard with the greatest interest and received quite an ovation from the young men composing this progressive Christian organization. The evening was opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. L. L. Nash and closed with a benediction by Rev. J. S. Crowley, the Acme Male Quartette having rendered a number of pleasing selections during the evening.

Last Winter she had several very thrilling trips, as will be recalled, one in which she was towing two dismasted schooners from this port and came near losing one in a storm between here and New York.

On her way home the Jones towed the barge Benefactor from New York to Norfolk. The Benefactor, it will be recalled, was formerly a Clyde steamer, which plied between this port and New York.

On the occasions when your advertising is the most interesting in the paper your store will be the most interesting in town.

VAST RAILROAD NEEDS

Not Yet Prepared For Handling Business, Says Editor Edmonds.

New York, Oct. 11.—The Wall Street Summary of today says: "Richard H. Edmonds, editor of the Manufacturers' Record, of Baltimore, while in New York, yesterday, in an interview with a reporter of the New York News Bureau, said:

"'Though general business throughout the country has not yet joined fully in the remarkable activity prevailing in iron and steel, railroads are already becoming congested with traffic and many complaints of scarcity of cars are heard in Alabama and West Virginia and other iron and coal centres.

"'We are now producing iron at the rate of nearly 30,000,000 tons a year, or over 3,000,000 tons above the record output of 1907. If other industries were as active as iron and steel (and they must inevitably become so), railroads would be as much overwhelmed with business as they were when the railroad system of the country practically collapsed in the Summer and Fall of 1907. Moreover, the really marvellous activity in iron and steel is as yet without the benefit of heavy railroad purchases of materials. When railroad buying attains the heavy totals which their necessities will force in the near future, the danger to the country will be a scramble for iron and steel products, with the possibility of a runaway market. There is possibly as much danger in a speculative iron market as in a wild stock speculation. If prices go too high consumption is checked, but while consumption is absorbing such a vast amount of iron as at present, the iron trade must of necessity be crowded at high pressure. What will happen when all business revives it is hard to say, but it is quite certain that the outlook indicates a very great expansion in every leading industry to keep in touch with the remarkable expansion of iron and steel. The railroads seem to be at last waking up to the situation, but they have been so slow in doing this that traffic is already growing far more rapidly than railroad facilities, and the danger ahead of us is a collapse in railroads from inability to handle freight. Every day is simply emphasizing the fact that railroad expansion has not kept up with the growth of the country, and that at least $5,000,000,000 to $6,000,000,000 would be required to push railroad building and enlarging of railroad operations to a point where facilities for handling freight would equal the demands of the next two or three years. If $1,000,000,000 a year for the next 10 years could be expended upon railroad construction the facilities at that time would not equal the certainty of the demand. Any legislative action that delays the investment needed for railroad construction simply intensifies the situation and really makes all present railroads a greater monopoly than if railroad construction could be broadly pushed in all directions.

"In connection with this marvelous expansion in iron and steel, it is evident that the great steel operators are endeavoring to safeguard the future by the purchase or control by lease of the sources of ore supplies. The announcement that the Bethlehem Steel Corporation has secured one of the large ore properties of Northern New York follows very quickly after the report that it has arranged for heavy investments in Texas, where, according to reports made by the Santa Fe Railroad to the State Railroad Commission, contracts have been made for opening up ore properties with a view to furnishing the Bethlehem people 1,000,000 tons of Texas ore a year.

"'Similar efforts are being made in many directions as to coking coal properties, showing that the far-seeing men of today are recognizing the tremendous future through the ownership of the raw materials for iron and steel making.

"'It is hardly to be expected that the rate of iron production which has prevailed during the last 40 years will continue for the next 10, but if it did so continue it would, as shown in a recent paper by Professor Porter of the University of Cincinnati, carry pig iron production in 1920 to 85,000,000 tons. It is, however, entirely within reason to estimate that iron production will double by 1920, and give us at that time between 5,000,00 and 60,000,00 tons, which would mean a practical doubling of the entire iron, coke and steel industries of the country. As other industrial activities in the long run keep pace with iron and steel, this would mean that the general traffic of the country in 10 years will double, unless so hampered by railroad facilities as to make this impossible. The problem of the day, therefore, is to make a possibility the finding of the $1,000,000,000 needed for railroad expansion during the next 10 years.'"

THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, Oct. 14.—On reports of a more active spot demand and firmer Southern markets, cotton futures advanced to new high records for the season today. Realizing caused late reactions but the market closed steady in tone with September 3 points net lower and other months unchanged to 7 points higher. The opening was steady at a decline of 1 to 6 points and during the first hour active months sold off to a net loss of 9 to 11 points owing to disappointing cables, the failure of the weather map to show any further condition detrimental to the crop, realizing and selling for a reaction by local professionals. Numerous reports came in of higher interior markets, however, and after some of yesterday's buyers had liquidated, the market firmed up on talk of a better spot demand, aggressive support from New Orleans bulls, the forecast for much colder in the belt, covering by early sellers for a turn, and fresh buying through commission houses. The advance carried the active months up to a net gain of 11 to 15 points with December selling at 13.27 and March at 13.85, while May contracts in New Orleans touched the promised 14c level. Subsequently the market was irregular and the close was 10 to 11 points off from the top under profit taking. Southern spot markets officially reported early were 1-16 to 3-16c higher.

Receipts at the ports today 53,091 bales against 62,147 last week and 44,213 last year; for the week 375,000 bales against 417,883 last week and 372,811 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 9,201 bales against 8,624 last year, and at Houston 13,669 bales against 18,329 last year.

Spot cotton closed quiet, 10 points advance; middling uplands 13.95; middling gulf 14.20; sales 3,800. Futures opened and closed steady.

DICK BROS. CO., COTTON LETTER.

New York, Oct. 14.—Liverpool failed to respond to our advance yesterday and our market opened 1 to 6 points lower than previous closing There was a little buying at the start, but longs seemed disposed to take profits and the market sold off 8 to 10 points. There was more or less selling for Southern and Liverpool accounts, however, at the decline, there was support by prominent interests and the market advanced rapidly, making new high records for the season. The weather was generally warmer throughout the belt but there were many advices claiming serious damage by yesterday's frost. Advices from Fall River indicated a further advance in print cloths. The spot markets were firm, and there were claims that New England mills were beginning to send inquiries into the Southern markets for cotton. On the whole sentiment was very bullish.

DICK BROS. & CO.

THE DRY GOODS MARKET.

New York, Oct. 14.—Fruit-of-the-loom bleached cottons were advanced another 1-4c a yard yesterday to a basis of 10 cents. Activity continues in the purchase of print cloth yarn goods and prices are advancing. Jobbers are doing a good advance business.

MARKET GOSSIP.

New York, Oct. 14.—The upturn of prices of stocks today continued on a diminishing volume of business but expanding in a buoyant upshoot in the last hour.

Previous liquidation evidently had served to relieve the local market for money so far that room was left for the recovery in prices United States Steel especially was vigorously strong and the aggressive manner in which it was absorbed and bid, has a reassuring effect on sentiment towards the whole market. The strength of Union Pacific effectively supplemented that of United States Steel as a sustaining influence. The announcement of the absorption of the control of the M. K. & T. in the interest of the Hawley and Rock Island parties, opened up a substantial extension of the ambitious railroad project of the former interest and suggested some realignment of the railroad affiliations. Western Union enjoyed the benefit of the good annual report. Reports of renewed active demand for pig iron were factor in the rise in United States Steel. United States bonds were heavy. Total sales, par value, were $3,652,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales of stocks today were 994,600 shares.

FINANCIAL MARKET.

New York, Oct. 14.—Money on call strong 4 1-2 to 5 per cent., ruling rate 4 3-4, closing bid and offered at 4 1-2. Time loans very firm and very active, 60 and 90 days 4 3-4 to 5 per cent., six months 4 1-2 to 4 3-4 per cent. Prime mercantile paper 4 3-4 to 5 1-4 per cent. Sterling exchange steady with actual business in bankers bills at 4.8285 to 4.8290 for 60 day bills and at 4.8410 for demand. Commercial bills 4.82 1-4 to 4.82 5-8. Bar silver 51. Mexican dollars 43.

EQUAL FRANCHISE SOCIETY.

Mrs. Clarence H. Mackey Gives Out Statement of Purposes.

New York, Oct. 13.—"Mrs. Clarence H. Mackey, having been asked to define the purposes and the position of the equal franchise society, of which she is the president, has given out the following statement for publication:

"The purpose of the equal franchise society is to promote the welfare of women by securing the National, State and local electoral franchise for women, because the equal franchise society believes in the political and civil equality of men and women. The electorate should represent the whole Nation, and a system of government under which one-half of the Nation are disfranchised is not a truly representative National system.

"We are inviting people to become members of our society in order to contribute to the advancement of public education by the promotion of our cause. We feel that in order to secure the enfranchisement of women it is not necessary for us to imitate methods which are being used in other countries. American manhood has always treated American womanhood in such a way as to make us feel that we shall ultimately achieve our aim without sensationalism. I will not endorse the militant methods.

"It has been repeatedly said to me by men in public life and men in private life that when the women of the United States unite in demanding the vote they will get it, and I think that is perfectly true, and that therefore, what is needed to further the suffrage cause, is to give all sorts and kinds of women the opportunity of listening to speakers who will explain just what the suffrage will mean to us all.

"Most of the men I have met are apparently willing to co-operate with us, and have listened to what we have said with courtesy and consideration. It has not seemed necessary in the past, and I do not think it will be necessary in the future, for us to go out to the street corners and shiek our propaganda at the passers by.

"We have but to plead our cause without raising our voice to those men and women who are not with us. We can always assume that they are not wilfully ignorant of what woman suffrage should mean. We want them to appreciate the fact that throughout this country the strongest suffragists are those women who devote their best energies towards the developing of their children in order to make them citizens worthy of our great country.

"We do not think that as an organization we have a right to demand an expression of opinion from the candidates in this comig election.

"We prefer to leave politics alone until our sex is sharing the responsibility with the other sex. I feel that the main reason for suffrage is community of interest between the sexes. It is not in any sense a fight for rights, but the logical evolution of justice.

"Equal franchise society wishes to establish a platform upon which such speakers as Bishop McVickar, of Rhode Island, Mr. Everett Colby and perhaps Mr. Martin W. Littleton will express their belief in suffrages and for that reason we have leased the Garden Theatre and arranged our course.

"We wish to enlist that part of the community, regardless of sex or creed, who will co-operate with us because of their loyalty to their country.

"Among the most recent additions to our membership are such women as Mrs. William Schieff, Mrs. Milton Barger, Mrs. Rudolph Sciemer, Mrs. Archibald Alexander, Mrs. Everett Colby, Mrs. Richard Stevens, Mrs. Walter Maynard, Mrs. Spence, Mrs. Paul Morton, Miss Elizabeth Buchanan, Miss Dorothy Whitey, and many others as can be seen in our list."

If you are troubled with pimples, blackheads,acne, barber's itch, blotches, freckles or other skin disease or blemish, now is the time to cure it with Hokara.

This pure and simple skin food is being introduced in Wilmington by J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co., at the low price of 25c for a liberal sized jar.

It contains no grease or acid, is cleanly to use and is a true food and nourishment for the skin, cleansing and clearing it in every pore, making it soft, white and beautiful.

If Hokara does not do even more than is claimed for it and give perfect satisfaction return the empty jar to J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co., and they will refund your money. If you have any skin trouble, you cannot spend 25c to better advantage than for a jar of this skin food. Larger size 50c.

If the skin trouble is caused by impure blood, or if the bowels are inactive, use Hokara Blood Tablets. They cool and cleanse the blood and regulate the bowels in a natural way.

TORPEDO FLOTILLA COMING.

Those Assigned to Visit Wilmington During Taft Celebration.

Washington, Oct. 14.—A trip to various coast points on the Atlantic ocean to participate in local celebrations has been arranged for the torpedo boats Stringham, Dupont, Biddle and Shubrick, of the Atlantic torpedo flotilla. From Charleston, S. C., they go to Savannah, from November 1st to 7th to take part in a carnival. The next day they go to Wilmington to be there during the President's visit. Later in the month, from November 22nd to 27th the boats are to be at Jacksonville, where a carnival is to be held. After these boats get back to Charleston, they will be placed in reserve. The other boats of the Atlantic flotilla, eight in all, are to be placed in reserve at Charleston upon arrival there, which is expected to be early in November.

RESTORES PLEASING PLUMPNESS

Samose Sold Under a "No Cure No Pay" Plan.

There are a good many people in Wilmington who ardently wish they could find some way of getting fat and plump. While not ill, yet they are so thin and scrawny that their friends think they cannot be well. In nine cases out of ten this condition can be readily overcome by using the combination of flesh forming foods known as Samose. This little tablet taken three times a day with the food does wonders in building up good health and restoring the pleasing plumpness that is so desirable.

Before the discovery of Samose, people who were thin, weak and run down were advised to take some nauseous preparation of cod liver oil, but now with this flesh-forming food in palatable form nothing at all disagreeable is necessary to gain weight.

J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co. is the agency for this preparation and sells it with the promise that if it does not do all that is claimed for it in making people gain in weight and in health, the money will be refunded.

The cost of getting a new boarder is not often greater than the cost of one insertion of a Business Local. Some times two or three insertions are needed.
